If at any time during your dealings with St John, you have any concerns about the training, assessment, or service being provided, you are encouraged to raise your concerns with your trainer or assessor. If however, you do not wish to discuss your concerns with your trainer or assessor in the first instance, you may access our formal complaints and appeals process.

POLICY

St John Ambulance Australia is committed to the highest standards of education and professional services and providing an effective, efficient, timely, fair, and confidential process for managing, responding to, and resolving complaints and appeals.

St John will aim to acknowledge receipt of a complaint or appeal within 7 business days of receipt.

All complaints and appeals will be handled professionally, confidentially, and in an effective, efficient, and timely manner.

At any time during a complaint or appeals process, St John reserves the right to refer the matter to expert legal advice.

In all dealings regarding complaints and appeals, St John will observe the principles of natural justice and procedural fairness. Specifically, St John will ensure that all parties that have an interest in the complaint or appeal have the right to:

- be informed of the substance of the allegations (except where doing so may jeopardise any related legal process or investigation, or there is overriding public interest in circumventing the provision of such information)
- be heard and have a reasonable opportunity to present their case, answer, address, or show cause for their actions
- a fair process, without bias or conflict of interest in the making of decisions
- privacy and confidentiality
- an evidence-based process that relies on the facts and matters of the specific complaint or allegation
- have their nominee included to accompany and support them in exercising their rights.

To effectively manage a complaint, St John may contact any person who is the subject of an investigation or allegation, or any person whose interests are likely to be affected adversely by a decision.

St John will ensure that complaints, and appeals against assessment decisions, are finalised within 30 days where possible.

If a complaint or appeal (including any review process) will take more than 60 days to finalise, the complainant will be notified further explaining the cause of the delay.

Appeals against an assessment decision made by St John must be lodged by the St John participant within 14 days of having been notified of the assessment decision unless there are extenuating circumstances that may have prevented lodgement of the appeal. In the case of appeals against assessment decisions, the TAE Coordinator will initially review the decision and the evidence used to make the decision. The assessor and the participant are interviewed separately to find out whether there is any relevant information not contained in the participant's file.

All participants involved in any training or assessment activity conducted by St John or a third party have the right to seek redress if they believe that they have been treated unfairly or if they are not satisfied with any of the training or assessment activities or methods.

All complaints and appeals received by St John will be viewed as an opportunity for improvement to improve the quality of St John's services. All complaints and appeals will be reviewed and analysed periodically by the St John National Training Team to identify opportunities for action or improvements in policies, procedures, and practices.

If the person who complained or appealed remains unsatisfied with the outcome of any decision made regarding their complaint or appeal, they may raise their complaint or appeal with the National RTO Compliance Manager rto@stjohn.org.au.

If the complainant is not satisfied with the outcome, they may request the matter be referred to an external dispute resolution process by a party-appointed for this purpose by St John.
